

include Anna Davis, Sima Liupert, Amanda Horn and Sonia Mutton.

We owe a lot to the MET field staff who supported the implementation of the project in Kunene and Caprivi, especially Nahor Howaseb and Siegfried Gowaseb, and Morgan Saisai and Chrispin Makata in the two regions respectively. In Kunene, special thanks go to Micheal Tulo and his family for allowing the Kunene research team to establish a base camp on grazing lands at the homestead, and for their continuous support. For the Caprivi Region, we would also like to thank specifically Beaven Mutali, Janet Matota, Peggy Tatalife, Candy Diggle, Lynn Halstead, Karine Roussett, Reuben Mafati, Daisy Nheta, and Elvis Mwilima.

Others who supported the project in a variety of ways and deserve mention include Peter Tarr (SAIEA), Chris Henderson (NPC), Alice Jarvis and Tony Robertson (DEA), Carole Roberts (independent consultant), Rachel Malone (DFID Namibia Country Office), Tom Barrett (DFID Rural Livelihoods Advisor Pretoria Office), Kate Bundra, in Outjo, Jo Tagg and Simon Mayes of the NACSO NRM team, and Mike Hearn (SRT). Emma van Wyk and Renee Graig provided administrative support to the project, and Wouter Schalken formerly of the Directorate of Tourism (MET). WILD would also like to thank Jenny van Wyk and Nancy Fernandes of Solitaire Press. A final thank you must go to our in-house editor, Tamsin Savage, who worked extremely hard to produce the various working papers, research discussion papers and this report.
